Excerpt: . present situation, the blessings of religion, the benefits of [science and the arts, and the advantages of an efficient and stable government. The time seems to have arrived, when a change in our principles and practice is necessary; when some new effort must be made to meliorate the condition of the Indians, if we would not be left without a living monument of their misfortunes, or a living evidence of our desire to repair them. We postpone for a moment, our exhibition of the falsehood contained in this extract; it being our immediate object to show his own inconsistency. Our readers have seen that he here omits to mention the rising generation of Indians. Gov. Cass on the same topic in 1826. The efforts, which benevolent individuals and associations are now making through the United States, in co-operation with the government, are founded upon more practical principles, and promise more stable and useful results. We consider any attempt utterly hopeless, to change the habits or opinions of those Indians, who have arrived at years of maturity, and all we can do for them is to add to the comforts of their physical existence. Our hopes must rest upon the rising generation. And, certainly, many of our missionary schools exhibit striking examples of the docility and capacity of their Indian pupils, and offer cheering prospects for the philanthropist. The union of mental and physical discipline, which is enforced at these establishments, is best adapted...
