Not illustrated. 1914 Excerpt: .biennial period, 505 were committed to the institution for the first time, 80 were recommitted, 92 returned for violating their paroles, and 23 returned who had escaped from the institution. The daily average population for the period was 174, which is an increase of nine patients for the biennium. Five hundred twenty-six patients have been paroled, and there were remaining in the institution June 30, 1914, 158. During the period 90 men left the institution without permission. This is a much less number than the previous biennial period, when 130 escaped. Twenty-five per cent of all the patients committed to this hospital have a ground parole. One cottage, Walnut Lodge, has no guards or locks of any kind, and the patients govern themselves, having no attendant supervision day or night. On June 30, 1914, 707 men were on parole. Each man is required to report every thirty days through the clerk of the district court of the county where he resides. An increasing number of cases of boys and young men from seventeen to twenty-five years of age have been received who are addicted to the use of heroin, morphine and cocaine, which would indicate that the drug habit is increasing in Iowa. In the opinion of the superintendent it is more harmful than alcoholism. WORK FOR THE PATIENTS. During the last biennium we have established the State Clay Works at this institution. The planning, building and operation of a model clay factory of four kiln capacity...
